ANNUAL RALEIGH DANCE SATURDAY

Dwenger Mission Collects Over Ton Of Waste Paper

Collecting paper and selling it to the dealers for re-processing is just one of the ways that Civilian Organizations can help their government in the present crisis.

In accordance with this principle, the Dwenger Mission Unit has started weekly collection of old newspapers, magazines, and scrap paper.

They bale the paper in quarters located at the rear of the college powerhouse. After it is baled, the paper is taken to Rensselaer, where it is sold at nine dollars a ton.

Money derived from the sale of the paper will be used for the extension of mission work now being carried on by the DMU. To date, Urban Dumminger, in charge of the work, reports that he has baled approximately a ton and a half of paper.

Urban Dumminger, of the DMU, and Brother Henry Luke bale the ton and a half of scrap paper collected for National Defense.

Faculty Board Outlines Place Of Collegeville In War-Time

The three-member Faculty board recently appointed by the President to promote Collegeville's participation in civilian victory effort has held preliminary meetings of organization and general planning. The personnel: Fathers Rufus Esser, C.P.P.S., Carl Nieset, C.P.P.S., and Norman Koller, C.P.P.S. The committee will be known as the Civilian Morale Committee (CMC). Purpose: To make St. Joseph's active participant in the national effort for victory; specifically to cooperate with the National Civilian Morale Service, under government supervision, along with the hundreds of other educational institutions in the country. The committee will, therefore, direct its efforts toward sustaining and improving war and peace morale in St. Joseph's.

Inspirational And Promotional

The committee's work will be mainly informational and inspirational or promotional. Emphasis will be placed upon a wider use of regular channels of information, but additional special channels will be provided. The committee will be a coordinating body directing the operations of various established groups on the campus toward a united war interest and effort. It should be stressed that, in keeping with the general purposes of St. Joseph's as an educational institution, well-rounded information and well-founded attitudes toward the war and peace are the object of the committee's work; it is not intended as a propaganda agency in the ordinary American understanding of the term.

More Plans To Follow

More definite plans will be announced later. The committee now stresses the admonition to all Collegeville citizens to appreciate the serious fact that our country is at war and that the national effort is composed of the sum of individual effort. The students especially should begin to interest themselves actively in acquiring information on all phases of the war. Furthermore, they should, after the example of many other college student groups, eschew frivolity and time-wasting during these serious days.

A Message From Our President

The average student can make no better contribution to Civilian Morale and no better preparation, personally, to meet the strenuous days to come, than by prayer, hard study, and vigorous self-discipline through the rigid observance of the rules and regulations laid down in the Handbook of St. Joseph's College. I wish to state emphatically, though it should be altogether unnecessary, that students will be held entirely responsible for each and every regulation in the Handbook. I shall direct the Dean of Students and his entire staff, as well as all the Faculty, to concentrate upon a more exacting enforcement of the rules of the Handbook, in the interests of promoting greater self-discipline and more study among the students. I wish to state, also, that any student who habitually neglects the opportunities for spiritual growth, such as Holy Mass and the Sacraments, offered him in St. Joseph's, will be judged to be out of sympathy with the aims and objectives of the College. St. Joseph's would, indeed, be remiss in duty to God and Country, did we not insist, in these perilous days, on more prayer, more study and more self-discipline to prepare our students for the greater tasks of life which lie ahead.

Aloys Dirksen, C.P.P.S.

Sanguinist Members Will Sponsor Novena For Peace Feb. 13th

Members of the Sanguinist Club for Catholic Action will sponsor a three-day Novena for Peace which will consist of Mass, special prayers, and Holy Communion on the days of February 13, 14, and 15.

This triduum is the society's means of carrying out the Christian belief in prayer as a method of obtaining peace. Any of the students who are not members of the club but wish to join in the services are welcome.

Will Have Press Exhibit

Plans are also in the making for a Catholic press exhibit as the society's part in the National Catholic Press Month. Tentative dates for the exhibition are February 27 to March 1, inclusive.

A novel display of works by Catholic authors including books, magazines, and pamphlets will be exhibited in the reception room in the Administration Building.

Philatelic Group Names John Risch President

Meeting Thursday night, Jan. 29, the Farley Stamp Club re-elected John Risch president. Risch will serve throughout the remaining school year.

Jerome Lange was elected vice-president, Joe Collier was made secretary, and the treasurer's post fell to Jack Shaw.

The stamp club plans to make their next meeting an "open house" night with new members from neighboring Rensselaer in attendance. Others on the campus, who are interested in philately, are cordially invited to attend.

Notices will be posted on the various bulletin boards when the time and place for the meeting are arranged.

Jack Ford New President Of Catholic Actionists

Elected to the presidency of the Sanguinist Club for Catholic Action at a meeting Thursday, Jan. 29, was sophomore Jack Ford, from Louisville, Ky.

Francis Kinney, retiring president, was installed in the vice-presidential capacity. Ed Harkenrider, Louis Dell, and Richard Schreiber were elected treasurer, secretary and corresponding secretary, respectively.

Find Non-Sulfur Water In New 54-Foot Well

Drilling on the new well southeast of the kitchen has been stopped at fifty-four feet below the ground.

The well, which contains non-sulphuric water, is not a gusher, but it is expected to furnish the kitchen with enough water.

Although the well might be made stronger by going deeper, the drillers have decided to stop because of the possibility of striking sulphur farther down.

K. of C. Hear Speech By President Dirksen

The V. Rev. Aloys Dirksen, president of St. Joseph's, spoke to the Knights of Columbus council at Decatur, Ind., Monday evening, February 2. "The Catholic, His Church and His Country," was the topic.

CYO Oratory Contest To Be Held On Campus

The Fort Wayne Diocesan CYO's annual oratory contest is to be held in the St. Joseph's College Theatre. The tentative date, Sunday, March 22, awaits the approval of the Rev. Joseph J. Hennes, diocesan CYO director.

It will be held in the afternoon and will be open to any Catholic man or woman under thirty and over high school age.

Each deanery (there are seven in the diocese) will send a representative. The representative is to be determined by inter-parish contests. The deaneries must announce their final choice by February 22.

In the evening, after the contest, the C.L.S. will present "Richard of Bordeaux" for the entertainment of the contestants.

Local Armory Scene Of Valentine Party After Millikin Tilt

At the Rensselaer Armory, Saturday evening, February 7, the Sultans of Jive, college swing band, will beat out the rhythm for the third annual Raleigh Club dance.

The dance will get under way shortly after the basketball game between St. Joe and James Millikin University.

"According to present plans this year's dance should far surpass those of previous years," said Charles Hankish, president of the Raleigh Club and head of the various committees. "If we continue to get the cooperation we have been welcoming, we can assure everyone of a most enjoyable evening."

Transformation of the Armory into a dance arcade will take place under the direction of Ben Nance, John Bivenour, Ray Galvin, and Mauri Gutgsell, who comprise the decorating committee.

Local Girls Guests

Dates for the evening have been arranged by Bob Farrell, Frank Benchik, and Tom Fagan. Girls from Whiting, Kentland, and Remington will be the Club's guests at the affair.

The lilting melodies of the Sultans of Jive will help to complete the evening. Selection of the Sultans was made by Dan O'Loughlin, Ed O'Reilly, Ted Wlekinski, Stan Lapsys, and Mauri Helm, the band committee.

Tickets are now available, and may be procured from any of the committeemen.

Maurice Leahy Cancels Lecture For February 4

Mr. Maurice Leahy, Irish poet and editor of the Ireland-America Review, has cancelled his Collegeville appearance, scheduled for February 4, because of the illness of his son.

Leahy was to speak on the Irish theatre movement.

At this writing it is doubtful whether he will be able to fulfill the engagement at a later date, since his lecture appearances are filled so far in advance.

Selling Dance Tickets

Raleigh Club president, Charles Hankish (right), and committeeman, Tom Fagan, sell a dance ticket to freshman John Carmody. The annual Raleigh Club dance will be staged Saturday night in the Armory.

After February, What?

Throughout the United States February is observed as Catholic Press Month. In various high schools and colleges all over the nation, students and their faculty moderators are sponsoring press exhibits that feature Catholic literature and periodicals. For that month, at least, Catholic readers are conscious of the existence of G. K. Chesterton, Belloc, Undset, Thompson, and many other great names in Catholic literature.

What happens when February is gone? There are no more vivid displays of colorful book jackets. Chesterton, Belloc and all the others slide back down to their own place of blissful oblivion until another February.

We do not think that is being overly pessimistic about the lack of support Catholic readers give Catholic writers. It is almost generally acknowledged — although no legitimate explanation can be offered — that Catholics shy away from literature labeled "Catholic."

If the truth of the matter were known to these people, much of what they read is indirectly Catholic. Some of the best modern fiction, although not Catholic in its specific theme, is written by Catholic authors. Others of our best-selling authors — Willa Cather, for example — write like Catholics even though they are not members of the Church.

Perhaps, as the Catholic writer becomes more worldly wise, he will become conscious of the avenues of publicity and exploitation that other authors employ. Certainly it will not make his output better literature. But the right kind of publicity and exploitation will not make his literature less great. It may, however, serve to acquaint Catholic readers with the awful fact that good, interesting novels and short stories need not always be written by atheists and scoffers.

The growth of interest is coming, we are sure. It has matured in the instance of the Catholic press. Even those outside the faith are coming to know the tremendous average for accuracy and truth which the Catholic papers maintain. On the whole, Catholic journalists have a rather audacious penchant for truth in the printed statement. We do not mean to say that other journalists do not also have this thirst for the truth. We only contend that Catholic journalists have it stronger.

That fact — the persistence of Catholic authors and journalists — must inevitably win them a deserving place, both with the other members of the Church and with those not in the Church who are concerned with better literature and honest journalism.

Following the Flickers

With Dick Schreiber

That the American cinematic world is striving consciously to make better pictures from the sheer dramatic standpoint is becoming more and more evident. To direct "Swamp Water," Twentieth Century Fox has engaged the famed French director, Jean Renoir, who turned out a film called "Grand Illusion" some time ago.

Renoir with his French background and natural love of the dramatic, packs a plentiful punch in his direction. He employs something of the technique of America's own Orson Welles.

Now for the review of "Swamp Water," and others:

RITZ: Wednesday and Thursday—Our favorite character actor, Walter Brennan, with Walter Huston and Anne Baxter, comes to the screen in Vereen Bell's thrilling story of the Okefenokee Swamp, "Swamp Water." Legion Rating: A-2.

This is, we think, the best picture of the lot advertised for the coming week. Ben Ragan (played by Dana Andrews) came to a warning cross at the edge of the swamp, and paused. No man had ever gone beyond and returned alive. Then he drove his paddle hard into the water and shot forward. What happens is a great adventure story, highlighted by the performance of Walter Brennan who has captured the Academy Award three times.

RITZ: Sunday, Monday, Tuesday—Abbott and Costello, Martha Raye, and Carol Bruce whip out a brand new, laugh-sprinkled story of the Air Corps. It's called "Keep 'Em Flying." Legion Rating: A-2.

Typical Abbott and Costello stuff. They call it 'Ham.' Whatever it is you and the rest of the eighty million cinema fans like it.

PALACE: Sunday, Monday, Tuesday—"The Bugle Sounds" has Wallace Berry as a fighting Yank in a tank. Assisting him are Marjorie Main, Lewis Stone, and George Bancroft. Legion Rating: A-1.

Berry is the tough Army Sergeant who treats his men roughly and his iron horse tenderly. He treats his fiancée worse—making her wait nineteen years before they are married.

RITZ: Wednesday and Thursday—A "hilarious" (say the press agents) romance about Honolulu before Dec. 7 is "The Perfect Snob," with Charley Ruggles and Lynn Bari. Legion Rating: Unavailable.

Campus Capers

Another week, and another column, and best of all another Raleigh Club Social Swingin' . . . And 'afore we forget we recommend for intermission a Salisbury Steak Sandwich at L's . . . But what say we don't say too much about it till after, and then . . . ah yes! Then???

The Sultans, as all probably know, have been successfully landed for the job with but one change in the personnel from their last public engagement and that is in the trumpet section with a freshman, Jimmy Bernard, taking over in Deac Taylor's old stompin' grounds . . .

Last week we mentioned Lapsys, but this week it seems it's Bob Stadtmiller, of the Shelbyville Stadtmillers and sometimes West Lafayette . . . Boundin' Bobby was perplexed to a great degree recently with a hard problem . . . but from inside sources we hear that he found the solution to it one nite in Renssy . . .

And now to the latest communique from Sudrovec's campaign, which is rivaling MacArthur's . . . "We have made contact with the enemy . . . via the mails." An awful lot of head colds are being carried around by the local population . . . Do you think there is any truth in the statement that sickness always strikes the weakest part of the body???

And now a little bouquet of orchids to Noll Hall for the support that they give to their interhall team—which itself has pep to spare . . . And while on the subject of basketball . . . With all due apologies to what should be a full column editorial we'd like to take a little crack at some of our local Joe Collegians who desert the cheering section on the west side of the fieldhouse for what might be termed the wolfin' section on the east side . . . Really fellahs! isn't Sunday nite and an occasional town nite enuf??

And now we come back to Johnny (I Got My Name In It) Schlereth . . . If you'll recall we said something about him putting an end to it . . . but it seems either the spark isn't gone or Jilted Johnny had an extra dime to send in for a free enlargement now being announced over the radio . . .

And just as an added note may we inquire . . . Just what did become of DAZE? But definitely a shock is that Tommy Husted spent the past week-end in C'ville —about the second or third one since Sept. . . .

But now we have to leave you by saying—Bon Sewer (low French) and A River (low French at high tide) . . . and sew (for the Red Cross) long . . .

What Magazines Today Are Most Important?

By John Ford

Because of the war some of the best known magazines in America may have to suspend publication for a time.

With this in mind, STUFF this week went to the students and asked them to name the magazines that they considered the most important to the American Way.

John Callahan, a sophomore from Lowell, Ind., selected these: 1. Reader's Digest, 2. Saturday Evening Post, 3. America.

Jack Kelly, a sophomore from Peoria, Ill., selected: 1. Life, 2. Reader's Digest, 3. Saturday Evening Post.

Jerry Mullen, a freshman from Peoria, likes: 1. Reader's Digest, 2. Life, 3. Collier's.

Gene Callahan, a freshman from Peoria, chose: 1. Time, 2. Life, 3. Fortune.

Gene Hoffman, a sophomore from Louisville, Ky., selects: 1. Saturday Evening Post, 2. Harper's, 3. America.

Jim Heckel, a freshman from Youngstown, Ohio, likes: 1. Life, 2. Time, 3. Reader's Digest.

John Kerper, a freshman from Lansing, Mich., selects: 1. Cosmopolitan, 2. Red Book, 3. Reader's Digest.

Bob Carlson, a freshman from Chicago, selects: 1. Reader's Digest, 2. Time, 3. Collier's.

Opinions did vary to some extent but as can be noticed there is a general choice for Reader's Digest, Time, and Life.

Steve Theodosius Talks To Science Organization

The major event of the regular meeting of Albertus Magnus society Monday night was President Steve Theodosius' talk on Fossils—the Keys to the Past.

In his talk Theodosius treated of the classical and medieval conceptions of fossils, and their true explanation, formation, and relation to the present flora and fauna.

The members elected James Bog-an, sophomore from Decatur, Ind., to replace Al Ballard who has graduated as treasurer of the club.

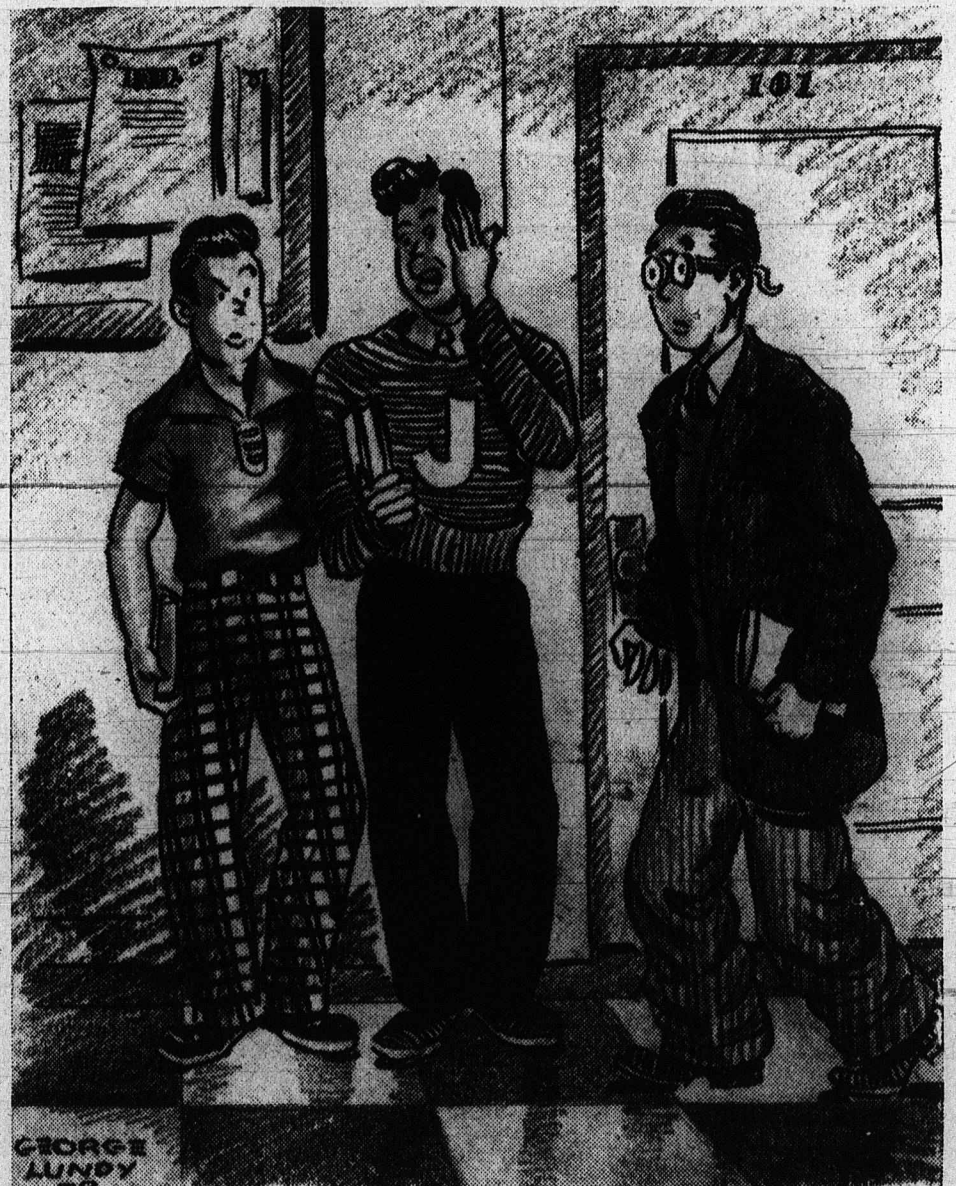

New Astronomy Course

A course in astronomy, listed in the catalogue as Physics 104, was added to the College curriculum this semester and will be taught by the Rev. Alfred Zanolar, C.P.P.S. It is the first course of this type to be offered at St. Joseph's College.

As a survey study, the course will not delve deeply into any of the various aspects of the science of astronomy. With the advent of warmer weather, outdoor observation will be added to the classroom work.

Basketball and St. Joseph's College both came into existence in the year 1891. Although the cage game didn't see an inception on the St. Joe campus until seven years after the game was designed by Dr. James Naismith at Springfield, Massachusetts, the two institutions literally grew up together.

Dr. Naismith is being honored this year by a Golden Jubilee campaign which will see thousands of basketball teams playing Golden Ball Games for the purpose of erecting a Temple of Basketball at Springfield, Mass., site of the first game. The Temple of Basketball will house a Hall of Fame and an historical museum. In its archives will be preserved the records and data of the sport.

St. Joe's first game with outsiders was played March 3, 1906, when the Cardinal and Purple team met Company M, of Rensselaer, in the latter's armory.

The Pumas will play their Golden Ball Game for the benefit of the Temple of Basketball Saturday night, February 21, in the St. Joe Fieldhouse. St. Joe will meet Chicago Teachers College that night as the College plays host to Alumni and members of Company M who played in that first Collegeville tilt who can be located.

At the half, talks will be given by old timers of the game, and students will stage a replica of the first basketball game using peach baskets and following original rules. A standard percentage of the receipts will go to the fund for the memorial Temple.

St. Joe's Athletic Dept. deserves a pat on the back for the timely introduction of an extensive intramural program. In keeping with the collegiate trends of placing more stress on intramural sports, the students here are now enjoying the best IM cage schedule possible.

Gutgsell Hits Hoop For 22 Points After 25 Minutes Of Play

Joe Dienhart's Pumas turned on the steam Tuesday night in the second half to win 65-44, over a fighting five from Valparaiso University in the fieldhouse.

Held to a one-point lead in the first half, 25-24, St. Joe came back like a whirlwind to outscore their scrappy opponents, 40 to 20 in the second frame.

Take Lead Early

Three baskets in rapid fashion by Huysman, Hoffman, and Gutgsell shot the home team into a 31-24 lead at the start of the second half. Valpo called time, but nothing could stop the Puma splurge. St. Joe's advantage widened despite frequent substitutions.

Mauri Gutgsell led the scoring pack with 22 points in 25 minutes' action. Paul Meadows of the visitors garnered 18 for second place.

The victory was the Pumas' third in the Indiana Conference against two defeats.

Father Hartman Speaks To Dwenger Missioners

The Rev. Sylvester Hartman, C. P.P.S., delivered an address to the Dwenger Mission Society Sunday, February 1, in the classroom of Xavier Hall. His topic was a nun, Sister M. Louise, who spent the greater portion of her days caring for lepers in Japan.

Father Hartman cared for her soul during the last three months of her life. He closed his speech by saying that we too should be missionaries and that we should preach by our example rather than by our words.

Millikin U. Next Tilt On Deck Followed By Indiana Quintet

Two home games — James Millikin, Saturday night, and Indiana State, Monday night — make up St. Joe's basketball schedule for the coming week.

It will be the second game of the season between the Pumas and each of the two visitors. James Millikin fell victim of the Dienhartmen, Dec. 13, 44-33. State rapped the Puma cagers, 56-40, Jan. 12. Both games were away.

Millikin Is Strong

Millikin is defending the Illinois College Conference basketball championship this year with seven lettermen back from last year's team when the Big Blue won 9 out of 10 conference contests.

A battle of height is anticipated when Earl (Hank) Busse, Millikin's six-foot five-inch center, meets up with Jiggs Huysman, St. Joe's six-foot, six-inch pivot man.

Tafinger, Park, White, Morthold, and Anderson, all lettermen, are expected to share the other four berths for the Illinois five.

The 1941-42 Indiana State squad is the first crop of players who have spent their whole college careers under the tutelage of Glen Curtis, long a winning coach in Hoosier basketball circles.

State Has Stetlow

State lost three men from last year's team by graduation and two to the army. Helping to offset these losses, however, is the return of rugged Fred Stetlow, all-state netter from Rogers Clark high school of Hammond, who starred two years ago at the Terre Haute institution as a sophomore.

Other highlighters in the downstaters' attack are brothers Henry and George Pearcy, from Martinsville high school, the little town that Curtis coached to basketball prominence some 10 years ago. William Hitch, a sophomore, is another valuable cog in Curtis' machine.

St. Joe's starting line-up for the two games will probably be the same that has answered the call all season: Hoffman and Walsh, forwards; Huysman, center; Gutgsell and Vanderkolk, guards.

(Incidentally it is the most extensive schedule this campus has ever had.)

Credit for this advance in popular body-building campaign goes first to the head man, Joe Dienhart, who has a theory on keeping sports alive as a national asset to defense. Varsity sports don't suffer or lose color under this system, but more general participation in the games by the students is stressed.

Assistant Coach Dick Scharf gets credit for the making of the schedule and general run of the program. With his able assistant, Don Clark, senior physical ed major, the IM cage sport has gained support and interest under his direction. Hopes of having equal success in softball and track are most promising.

Stan Lapsys has been teaching the Puma pugs many tricks of the game during the past week. Stan's knowledge of the sport and ability to teach the boxers the finer points is a definite advantage to the squad. Many a headache will be spared those who make use of his tips in their ring endeavors.

Boxers Face Valparaiso U. Pugilists In Foes' Territory

Captain Bob Cavey will lead the Puma pugs against Valparaiso's squad tonight in St. Joe's second seasonal match. The bouts will be held at Valpo.

Coach Hod Parker disclosed that an array of capable welterweights would be ready to appear but admitted a lack of fighters in the intermediate weights. Freshman Pat O'Brien will appear as the lone Puma representative in the heavy-weight class.

Bob Cavey, who was alone in the winner's row after the Illinois Tech meet, will weigh in at approximately 138 pounds. Dick Kindig is also in this class. In the 150-155 class Parker has three eligibles in Bill Carlos, Charley Klapheke, and Jack Stenger. Chance Cavey tipped the scale at 145 throughout the week and will probably be matched in the 147 pound division.

Valpo's Coach Schwiebert has three returning lettermen to put on tonight's card. Bruss of the 135 class; Bill Nowak in the 165 and Mueller in the 180 pound section, compose the Valpo mainstay.

St. Joe defeated Valpo once last year and tied once.

I-M Schedule Resumes After Post-Exam Lull

With examinations and tests a thing of the past, for a while anyhow, the intramural basketball program once again resumed play after a week's layoff.

Only five games were played in the resumption of the schedule. In Drexel Hall, Fleming outscored Shine's team, 30-27. The boys of Howard Guckien's team, Seifert Hall, broke the team-scoring record for one game when they rattled the rims to the tune of 60 points to trample Piotrowski's team, 60-26.

Guckien, incidentally, is now leading the former Knisley team, Knisley having departed from school.

In Noll Hall, Kauffman's boys won over Cooney, 20-19. Cooney leads the former Martel aggregation, since Martel was drafted to the freshman squad.

Inter Hall Games

In the two Inter-Hall games played, Seifert defeated Gasper, 36-31, and Noll outscored Xavier, 22-20.

After the semester shake-up, brought on by students changing residence halls and the registering of new students, a meeting of the IM officials and captains was held at which the new students wishing to play IM basketball were assigned to various teams. Successors to departing captains were also selected.

Michigan Law School Accepts Ralph Parker

Ralph Parker, a senior from Lincoln, Illinois, has been accepted by the law school of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. Until he hears from other schools to which he has applied, Ralph will not decide definitely where he will attend.

Above is Battling Bob Cavey, captain of this year's St. Joe boxing team, who scored a second-round knockout in the Illinois Tech fights, Jan. 23.

Cubs Win From Huntington By Slim Margin, 25-23

Dick Scharf's boys traveled to Huntington, January 28, to win 25-23, after leading throughout the entire game.

The Ramblers fought hard in the last quarter, but the Cubs had piled up too large a lead. Greene led the scoring for St. Joe with 13 points.

CISCA Meets Feb. 22

Students from the Chicago district will be interested in a regional meeting of CISCA, February 22, at which Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S.J., will speak on the topic: "Students Prepare for Peace in Time of War."

Details of the meeting, to be held at St. Xavier College, Chicago, are: Mass at 10:30 a. m. in the College Chapel; "Brunch" (half breakfast, half lunch) at 11:30; supper late in the afternoon; a social evening of dancing in the gym. Sandwiched in between will be four conferences, each followed by a student discussion.

More Pre-Med Students Accepted By Med School

Three more pre-medical students from the college's science department have received their acceptances from St. Louis University.

Frank Benchik, senior from East Chicago, Indiana; Ray Schraff, junior from Cleveland, Ohio; and John Schlereth, junior from Tiffin, Ohio, are the latest to be added to the rapidly increasing list of St. Joe men being accepted by the various medical schools.

John Schlereth has also been notified of his acceptance by Marquette University and Loyola of Chicago.

Prof. Frank Speaks To Commerce Club

Last Monday evening, February 2, Professor Frank conducted an open forum before the members of the Commerce Club. The topic under discussion was "Banking," with the Austrian banking system stressed particularly.

Dr. Frank, who recently joined the faculty as a professor of modern language, was formerly connected with a large Austrian firm.

Marines Come To College Seeking Officer Material

St. Joseph's College seniors, juniors, and sophomores are eligible for appointment to the U. S. Marine Corps Candidates' Class, a preliminary officers' training course, under a new plan of reserve officer procurement, according to an announcement by Captain Ralph E. Boulton, officer in charge of Marine Corps recruiting in the Indiana area.

Those students who are accepted and successfully complete this course will be commissioned second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve for service during the duration of the war.

Because of the recent expansion of the Marine Corps and the consequent need for junior officers, it is intended to enlist a small number of selected St. Joseph's College students and assign them to candidates' classes, the first one of which begins next May. Only seniors will be assigned to the first of these officers' training courses which start in May and June.

Other seniors accepted but not assigned to these first classes and all juniors and sophomores accepted will be enlisted with the understanding that they will not be called into active service, if practicable, until after their graduation from St. Joseph's, but that should it become necessary to call them to active duty prior to graduation at least six months' notice will be given them.

Successful completion of the candidates' class course, which is approximately 6 months long, will qualify the candidates for commissions as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve, after which they will receive additional training in a reserve officers' course. Upon completion of this latter course, the officers will be assigned to general duty with troops.

On or about February 1st, an officer of the Marine Corps will be assigned to the Chicago Marine Corps recruiting station to act as liaison officer between St. Joseph's College and the Marine Corps. He will visit St. Joseph's early in February to contact students who wish to make application for this officers' training course. A medical officer will visit the college in March to administer physical examinations to those men who have been deemed qualified in other respects.

Fr. Speckbaugh Attends Theatrical Convention

In attendance at the National Catholic Theatre Conference at Dubuque, Iowa, last weekend was the Rev. Dr. Paul F. Speckbaugh, C. P.P.S., Chairman of the Department of English.

Father Speckbaugh, who is moderator of the Columbian Literary Society—the local thespian group—conferred with nationally known figures in the dramatic world.

The Academy Corner

By Joe Collier

The Year-Book is well on its way. Each member of the staff is beginning to prepare himself for his particular job. Most of the members will derive much needed information from back issues of STUFF, while others have quite a lot of original copy to do.

Whatever the source of information, the construction of it will be quite a task. It is a thrilling novelty for most of the members, but everybody is anxious to delve into the exciting annals of journalism. Rev. Raphael Gross, C.P.P.S., will act as moderator.

Final semester grades were released last week and results showed. Joe Wolford again leading the senior class with an 88.8 average followed closely by Bob Schmelter and Bob Gross. Bob Meiners, with a 92.2, led the juniors. Johnny Wunderlich and H. Doyle come close behind. The three sophomore geniuses were the same as before: Dobe with a 90.0, followed by Teaney and Barret. Freshman Jose Carlos pulled down the amazing average of 98.8 for his semester grade. Louie Schneider and Mike Cody were next in line.

The official opening of the second semester saw three new faces within the Academy. The freshman class now has Bill Kehoe, from Springfield, Ohio. Many call him Tommy Harmon for the striking similarity between him and the Michigan great. Dave Clemens is the new sophomore addition. He is a product of Cannelton, Indiana. The contribution to the junior class is Jack Mallock from Detroit, Michigan.

The beginning of a new week saw three more faces from the senior class missing. Bob Millea, Tom Fox and Joe Collier decided that higher education was the thing for them. This leaves a total of seven in the senior class. They are: Johnny Gavin, Joe Joseph, Julius Vincent, Bob Greene, Paul Wehrle, Bob Schmelter, and Leo Moran.

Because of the accelerated education program, many seniors have left, creating numerous vacancies in the intra-mural teams. Brother Louis called a meeting of all I-M players Wednesday afternoon, with the results being that the teams were cut down to five, and finally by coin-flipping, arguing, etc., each team seemed to be satisfied. The new captains of the various I-M teams now are Leo Moran, Bob McNamara, Jim Dobe, Jim Richart, and Jim Quinlivan.

Here and There

The Yanks had better look out, because Red Barret, the confederate, is loose again. The popular opinion of Jerome Lange's nationality is that he's a Jew with Scottish instincts. How did they ever get that idea? A common occurrence anymore is to see Julius Vincent valiantly trying to imitate Loring Campbell in the study hall.
